

College of Southern Idaho Radiologic Technology Program Values

HONESTY -- We are sincere with students and when working on program projects.

EQUALITY -- We treat all persons equally without regard to age, race, gender, or physical attributes.

RESPECT -- We treat students, faculty, staff, patients, peers, superiors, and subordinates with the basic respect that all persons deserve.

TACT -- We treat all persons with discretion and diplomacy.

COMMITMENT -- Our students do what is expected to pass the ARRT exam in radiography on the first try and with exceptionally high scores so they can obtain high paying positions as competent entry-level Registered Technologists in Radiography.

PRIDE -- We are proud of everyone associated with the CSI Radiologic Technology Program and its accomplishments.

LOYALTY -- We are loyal to the CSI Radiologic Technology Program, defending its principles and policies to its detractors and working for change from within without defaming the program to others.

PROFESSIONALISM -- We maintain high standards of education, competence, continuing education, and we're involved in the professional community.

INNOVATION -- We are open to new ideas and trends provided they are based on sound principles, rather than simply to change for the sake of change.

RESPONSIBILITY -- We accept responsibility for our actions and act responsibly to those above and below us in the chain of command.

EDUCATION -- We conduct our program in a professional manner and emphasize continuing and higher education to students and faculty to foster improvement and growth for all RT's.

CONCERN -- We are sympathetic to the legitimate physical and emotional needs of our students so they may learn to have empathy for patients for whom they will be providing care.

CODE OF ETHICS -- We adhere to the principles set forth in the ARRT Code of Ethics and stress the same to our students both in what we teach and how we conduct ourselves.
